

11. How has your thinking changed, or not, about the causes for changes in a population over time? If your thinking changed, which activity was most influential and why?